

A MONTHLY WEBINAR SERIES FOR EMS LEADERS
FROM THE CENTER FOR PATIENT SAFETY

THE ROAD TO HIGH RELIABILITY

TRANSFORMATION WEBINAR SERIES ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Basics and Beyond

Healthcare today demands reliable, accurate, and safe care; yet clinical errors are everywhere. Reducing patient harm must be a priority for all EMS leaders and clinicians. But to do so, knowledge and the right tools are required.

Each EMS organization is different. Likewise, when it comes to patient safety, EMS agencies are at varying maturity levels. Some are unmindful of patient safety, while others are more sophisticated and take proactive steps to reduce patient harm. Regardless, we all agree: ONE ERROR IS TOO MANY!

High Reliability isn't a Buzzword

The term high reliability is everywhere in healthcare today. It's more than a box you check or something you accomplish overnight. Instead, it requires a strong patient safety foundation with the necessary tools to achieve and sustain it.

The Center for Patient Safety's 2020 High-Reliability webinar series offers patient safety approaches that help move you toward high reliability. Each month you'll hear from successful EMS leaders as they share their stories of safety, performance improvement, and high reliability. The year-long series allows time for you to adopt new practices, develop new processes, and measure successes on your patient safety journey.

So, whether you are an EMS chief, educator, administrator, or medical director, participation in this webinar series will help you and your providers attain high reliability, resulting in decreased errors and improved patient care.
